In 2010, in a country named Chile, something (1) happened. There was a *mine. Hard-working people *dig for the precious things like gold and silver. One ordinary day, something *extraordinary happened. The mine *collapsed. This means that it fell in on itself. Sadly, 33 *miners were left inside. The miners were in a small room. The room was as deep as a *skyscraper is tall. Above them, many tons of rocks and *dirt blocked the *exit. But (2).

On the ground, many people were working very hard to help the miners. They drilled a hole into the ground to reach the miners. Inside of the mine, the miners were doing their best to survive. They shared their food and water and helped each other.

17 days after, the drill reached the miners. *Rescuers sent a small note down the hole to ask if the miners were okay. They got a note back: "We all 33 of us are all right here." Everyone on the ground was very happy to hear they were alive! Now, the rescuers had to find how to get the miners out. They drilled a bigger hole. It took a lot of time, but finally, 69 days after, the hole got ready. One by one, the miners were pulled up through the hole. Each miner rode in a special *capsule. It was like a very small elevator. When the first miner came out, everyone cheered. They were so happy to see him safe! In the end, all 33 miners were *rescued. It was a miracle! People all around the world were happy. The miners became heroes. This story of survival gave hope to many people.

This true story shows us that hope and teamwork are powerful. (3).

*mine 鉱山 *dig 掘る *extraordinary 異常な *collapse 崩壊する *miner 炭鉱作業員
 *skyscraper 高層ビル *dirt 土 *exit 出口 *rescuer 救助者 *capsule カプセル *rescue 救助する
